The fecund Murder Mystery

The best company night out - ever

Who is it for?

Companies who want to reward their staff with a night out they will never forget. Great for company nights out and for the Christmas or summer party.

What happens?

Imagine sitting down to enjoy a 3 course meal with your colleagues – and being told that your MD has organised a last minute surprise – the opportunity to listen to 3 motivational speakers!

As the groans disappear it becomes clear that these motivational speakers are not all they seem – skilled comedy performers introduce 3 misfits that parody the worst kind of keynote – dragging audience members on stage to indulge in a variety of toe curling exercises that will have the audience in stitches.

At the end of their routines one of the speakers is murdered – and after the performance we have witnessed everyone is a suspect! In between courses, the company is interrogated and asked to perform a series of comedy games and hilarious tasks in a desperate attempt to prove their innocence.

Combining comedy, theatre and the very worst in motivational techniques, we expertly guide your company through an evening of fun, intrigue and revelation that delivers all the ingredients for an amazing company night out.

The fecund Murder Mystery:

- Gets everyone involved and engaged
- Celebrates the people in the company
- Creates stories and memories
- Stimulates conversation, imagination and laughter
- Bonds teams through new experiences
- Entertains and engages

"Thank you so much, it was absolutely fantastic!"
